Reviewed and Compiled Financial Statements

When you need a Financial Statement, you simply need it done right.

For over two decades, Rich Shavell and his team have helped companies meet bank, surety, and regulatory requirements through preparation of Reviewed and Compiled Financial Statements. How do we make a difference? First, we take every step to understand your industry and your business.

Financial Statements reveal how well your business is doing, as well as bring to light areas which would benefit from increased focus, monitoring, or improvement. We help you understand the numbers so you will be able to make smart financial decisions.

The type of statement you need is determined by what you are trying to achieve or what the entity requires the statements for. Most of the time the statement preparation will include a Balance Sheet, Statement of Income or Operations, Stockholders or Members Equity Statement, Cash Flow Statement, and Notes to the Financial Statements. The Financial Statements will be accompanied by an Independent Accountant's Report depending on the type of service.

We prepare Financial Statements for a variety of purposes. Some examples include:

1. Construction contractors who are required to provide reporting for surety and bonding purposes, loan covenants, and pre-qualification for Department of Transportation bids
2. Internal decision-making and long-term management strategy through tracking revenue, budgets, and expenses
3. Growing businesses who are preparing for a future sale, merger, or transition
4. Companies applying for a bank loan
5. Companies raising money through investors

Trust Shavell Tax & Consulting's Reviewed and Compiled Financial Statement Services and experience in all types of industries. We stand ready to work with you to provide the thorough and accurate reporting you need.
